

NovaCart — Company Information

About NovaCart

NovaCart is a fictional India-based e-commerce company founded in 2023. It sells consumer electronics, home-office equipment, and everyday technology accessories through its website and mobile application.

Mission

NovaCart's mission is to make reliable technology products easier to discover, compare, and purchase with transparent pricing and dependable after-sales support.

Customer Support

Support is available Monday through Saturday, 9:00 AM–7:00 PM IST. Customers can contact support through the Help Center, email, or in-app chat.

Order Lifecycle

A typical order moves through: payment confirmation → processing → warehouse allocation → packing → dispatch → in-transit → delivered. Cancellation and return eligibility depend on the current order state and product category.

Important Distinction

NovaCart's policies can differ by product category. The applicable policy is the policy associated with the customer's product and order, not a generic rule inferred from another category.
